

Friday 27th March 2020

Good Morning Year 1 parents and children,
Happy Friday. We have made it to the end of our first week. Thank you to everyone that has shared what they are doing with us so far, from daily challenges and pictures of other activities, which are just as important.

Our daily challenge is:

- Count out some of your toys no more than 20. Half them how many have you got?
- A comic kids yoga or medication video. These are short yoga, mindfulness and relaxation video for children. Interactive adventures which build strength, balance and confidence.
- Or which activity will you choose today from your child's home learning packs?

All daily challenges are just suggestions that might work today or another however if your child isn't ready for this today that is absolutely fine. They can have a morning or day off from work. It's about them feeling happy and safe in this new situation, which is much more important than school work.

Thank you for your tremendous support in this over this very strange period.
We are all here to listen and support you without whatever you may need so if you would like any advice or help please email us. We also love seeing all the activities you are completing so please continue to send in all of those so we can share in your successes.

Also our plant update: our sunflowers and strawberries are being to grow. I will keep you updated on how they are doing.
Have a great safe day!

Miss Divecha
