

Wednesday 22nd April: Day 3 Summer term

Good morning! The sun is shining again today so if you are able to go outside in the garden why not try doing your daily reading outside today?

Still recommending Joe wicks at 9am and radioblogging.net at 9.30am!

In the work packs that were delivered to you yesterday you will find a copy of the English writing project called the game based on Jumanji – If you have already started it today you can start working on page 10 of the pack- Likes, Dislikes, Puzzles & Surprises! Now you have read the whole story, what did you like & dislike? What puzzled you (what questions do you have – why, what, how ...) and what surprised you? Re-read the story to remind yourself of the details. (If you missed this on Monday or Tuesday, don't worry just start from the beginning today).

Maths is addition and subtraction problems at mymaths today- you can also catch up with Monday and Tuesday's mymaths if you haven't finished them. Please let me know if you need any help.

If you have a pack of cards at home why not try playing a game today called 'Risky' – you might have played it before at school- watch the demonstration video and rules at

There is a science lesson about the Solar System today at <https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/articles/zhk2mfr>

Today's Daily Challenge: Draw a bird's eye view of where you live- this could be of your house and garden or your local area. Remember birds eye view means from above (like a bird looking down)

If you are looking for some more challenges there are some great ICT challenges at

Have a great day. Just email with any problems or to show me what you have been doing
