

Good morning Year 5,

It was great to catch up with most of my class yesterday- if I didn't get to speak to you hopefully I will speak to you today and Mrs Chauhan will be catching up with 5 Rosen too this week. Multiplication again today for my maths- if you need support with this task I have made another mymaths talk through which you can see at <https://www.loom.com/share/d29140b383074dc8bce1e4b31c58d434> Listen to the next chapter of The Nowhere Emporium; let me know what you think of the book so far! Your English task today is to complete page 9-11 of your writing booklet- it's all about the meanings of words. If your pack has arrived you can complete it in the booklet, if not work from the writing pack attached and complete the activity in your exercise book. Choose an activity from this terms topic sheets (curate and create a museum, Get outside and Art Gallery) to start- some are longer than others so you may not finish it today. Amazingly, for all the Harry potter fans out there, JK Rowling has released a surprise story for you to enjoy during lockdown. A chapter at a time is being released every day (11 chapters are out so far) and you can read it here! Let me know what you think- there is even a competition to illustrate the story- check it out! <https://www.theickabog.com/read-the-story/>

Finally today's challenge is to write a card, letter, draw a picture, poem or story – something to send to the local care home to cheer them up when they can't have visitors during this difficult time. Look at the attached flyer for details of where to send them. Please put your first name, age and school to the creation and if you can take a photograph of your work before sending it to the care home and email the photo to leisure@threerivers.gov.uk so they can see some of your fantastic work too.

Don't forget to log on to TT rockstars, spag.com and spelling shed every day. Who will be the top TT rock star champion this week? Have a great day and don't forget to email if you get stuck, want to share your work or just say hello!

Stay safe, Year 5 team
